ADDITION & SUBTRACTION OF DECIMAL NUMBERS

When deciding on which menus to use for the activity you have a couple of options:

1. Provide actual menus: Think Take-Out Menus, Most restaurants are more than happy to provide you with actual menus especially when you explain you are a teacher. Students LOVE having an actual menu they can hold and manipulate in their hands when completing the activity. Best part... Don't allow students to write in the menu and you can use the same menus year after year.

2. Provide printouts of menus: I will provide a menu you are welcome to use, keep in mind when I own no rights to this menu. When you purchased this product you paid for use of the worksheets, the menu does not belong to me and is provided free for your personal use. You can find other examples by simply searching the internet for "printable-menus" and printing for your student's use.

3. Digital Menu: Depending on your access to tech, you can divide students up to look up a digital menu on their own. I would then have students write down their choices and then use paper to write the menu. I wouldn't have my students write on the menu if you go this route. Some restaurants keep in mind that some websites may require you to
